Providing a complete service

The Legal Services Act has opened up considerably the way in which lawyers are able to practise and the advent of the Legal Disciplinary Practice has meant that many existing and new legal practices will contain not only one particular type of lawyer but may be a partnership or company made up of many different types of lawyers all working together as managers of the business.

It is essential, therefore, that anyone seeking to provide assistance to law firms is able to provide a full range of advice that can address the needs not simply of one branch of the profession but of solicitors, barristers, legal executives, paralegals and everyone else involved in the practise of the law. The members of the Lawyers Defence Group are able to provide that wide range of assistance.

SUPPORTING YOU AND YOUR PRACTICE

DRAWING UPON A PANEL OF SOLICITORS, BARRISTERS, CONSULTANTS AND OTHER PROFESSIONALS, THE LAWYERS DEFENCE GROUP CAN PROVIDE YOU AND YOUR PRACTICE WITH THE SUPPORT AND ASSISTANCE IT NEEDS AT THE TIME IT MOST NEEDS IT.

From time to time we all experience problems. Just because we are lawyers does not mean we always know what to do or how to get the help we need.

The problem we face is that we are all busy people and simply dealing with client matters is a full time occupation, leaving little or no spare capacity to deal with administration, office management, personnel issues, accounts or professional conduct. Little wonder, then, that occasionally problems get out of hand.
